If you have any questions or problems with your application, please contact Steve Smith at sksmith@wisc.edu.
Section C: References

You must submit a total of three references with your FLAS application. Two of these must be letters of recommendation relating to your qualifications for this award. The third, as explained below, is usually a language reference. Please indicate the name of each of your referees along with their email addresses here. Make sure you notify your selected referees prior to completing your application. You are strongly encouraged to discuss your application with your referees prior to sending the email notifications below.

If you are already a student at UW-Madison, at least one of the letters of recommendation must be current. If you are an advanced graduate student, one of the letters of recommendation must be from your major professor. (Some centers require that all graduate students, including incoming graduate students, must obtain a letter of recommendation from a professor in the department they are in or will be entering. This should be from a professor that the applicant is most likely to select as an adviser or who will at least work closely with the student. Please check with your FLAS Coordinator at the address below.)

Reference #1 (Letter of Recommendation)

If you have had previous training in the language for which you are applying, reference #3 should be an evaluation of your fluency in that language. If you have not had training in the language for which you are applying, this reference should be for a language in which you are most fluent (but not your native language). If you have not had any prior college-level language training, submit a third academic reference. The referee who completes your language reference may also submit one of the two other letters of recommendation.

Language Reference? ✔ Yes ☐ No

Test - Summer -- Deadline: Monday, October 08, 2012

Section E: Essay Questions

Previous language training: List all languages in which you have had formal or informal training (undergraduate or graduate), the number of years of instruction, and the school attended. If your language facility was gained in other ways, such as through overseas experience, explain where, when, and indicate current proficiency.*

Check one or more of the following Career Goals*:

- Post-Secondary Education
- Elementary/Secondary Education
- Foreign Government
- US Federal Government
- State/Local Government
- International Agency in the US
- International Agency outside the US
- Private Sector, Profit
- Private Sector, Non-Profit
- US Military
- Other, please specify below:

In one paragraph, describe how the language training you receive during the period of your FLAS fellowship will help prepare you to achieve your academic and career goals.

Describe your training to date, your academic plans for this coming year, and the themes in your coursework and/or thesis or dissertation project. [500-1200 words] The evaluation committee understands that beginning or early graduate students may have rudimentary thesis or dissertation plans, while more advanced students will be able to lay out plans for major research projects in some detail. Likewise, the committee understands that essays from applicants in professional schools or other non-thesis degree programs will be quite different from essays written by students planning theses or dissertations. So, view this essay as a chance to inform the committee of your current thoughts on how you hope to advance knowledge in your field or use your training to prepare for valuable work in a profession.*
Why is it necessary for you to take intensive language training in the summer?*

Please specify any additional information you think is relevant to this application:
